Dear Brethren:

Blessings of grace and peace to you!

The leadership of the South Caribbean Conference of Seventh-day Adventists (SCC) commend and congratulate you for your management of the Covid-19 protocols during the recently ended pandemic. As a result of the goodness of God, the work of stakeholders and the care of our medical professionals, the Covid-19 protocols were discontinued allowing us to once again participate in our many and varied activities in our homes, churches, schools and organizations.

However, recent information from the Ministry of Health has indicated an uptick in Covid-19, influenza and other viruses. It is therefore, our responsibility to once again, encourage you to re-establish the basic protocols which have helped us so graciously during the pandemic.

As a consequence, the Administrative Committee (ADCOM) of the SCC decided that with immediate effect, the SCC Office, all churches and schools should:-

- Re-introduce hand hygiene (hand washing and or sanitization)
- Ask that persons with flu like symptoms to remain at home
- Ask the elderly, and their caregivers, as well as other vulnerable persons in our congregations wear mask
- Have self-regulated distancing

These are simply precautionary measures to be used out of an abundance of caution as we work together to prevent any further spread.

May God's choicest blessings continue to attend you.

Yours faithfully

LESLIE MOSES
